

Jan 1, 8 AD

$$(6664 - 1944)(365,25) = 1723980$$

Time

8AD

DURANT

Ovid banished to Tomi.

8AD

DURANT

Ovid - rounding 51 - was banished
by Augustus to Cold and barbarous TOMC on the Black Sea.

At the same time Augustus banished his granddaughter Julia and ordered that Ovid's works should be removed from the public libraries. He was given the remaining months of 8AD to arrange his affairs.

AD 8

AUGUSTUS

DURANT

All the great structures that he had built seemed to be in ruins. The powers that he had assumed for order's sake had weakened into degeneration the Senate and the Assemblies from which he had taken them. Tired of ratifications and adulterations, the senators no longer came to their sessions and a mere handful of citizens gathered in the COMITIA. No one wanted to enlist in the army. Luxury had taken the place of simplicity. Sexual license was replacing parentage; by its own exhausted will the great race was beginning to die.

He thought had failed.

AD 8

DURANT

Julia, a daughter of his daughter Julia was following her mother's morals. Augustus exiled her to an isle in the Adriatic and at the same time banished Ovid to TOMI on the Black Sea.

8AD

DURANT

now another Julia, daughter of his daughter Julia (Augustus' daughter) had grown up and was following her mother's morals as if resolved to illustrate all the amatory arts of her friend Ovid's verse. In 8AD having received proofs of her adultery, Augustus exiled her to an isle in the ADRIATIC and at the same time banished OVID to TOMI

On the Black Sea

Sometemis Augustus thought of
starving himself to death.